

Shawneetown Man is Killed When Automobile Hits Parked Truck

Billy Smith is Fatally Injured; Companion Hurt

Billy Smith, who resided a short distance south of Shawneetown, was fatally injured and his companion, James Dillard of Old Shawneetown, was hurt when their car crashed into the rear of a parked truck in Shawneetown last night.

Sheriff Millard Holloway of Gallatin county said the crash occurred around 9 p. m. Holloway said the two were in Smith's car, Dillard driving.

The auto, travelling west on Route 13, made the first turn into the new town and crashed under a truck belonging to Joe Marlow of Junction, which was parked in front of the Host House.

The injured men were rushed to Ferrell hospital in an ambulance from the Wright funeral home but a report from Ralph Bean of Eldorado, deputy Saline county coroner, said that Smith was dead on arrival, dying after the ambulance had crossed from Gallatin into Saline county.

Holloway said that Dillard was cut up pretty bad about the head and face and that examination would have to be made to determine the extent of other injuries.

Bean said Jake Berlin, operator of the Host House, heard the crash but did not see it. Berlin, running out and seeing the wreckage, hurriedly summoned the ambulance.

The body of Smith, about 45, was returned to the Wright funeral home. Reports were he had a wife and daughter.

Former Local Teacher Edits Magazine Urging Better Understanding

EDUCATION DEPT.: Remember Eugene Underwood, who taught foreign languages at Harrisburg Township high school several years back?

I was out to see Gene Bybee yesterday at his home on South Webster street and Gene showed me a Christmas card he had received from the Underwoods, now residents of Indianapolis.

He mentioned that Mr. Underwood is one of his best friends and corresponds with him. Now the teacher is Dr. Eugene T. Underwood, a member of Butler University faculty at Indianapolis and managing editor of a fine magazine called Pen-Prints.

"This is a non-profit magazine designed to bring about a better understanding of the people of various countries through the development of cultures they have in common," Gene told me. "Read the last two paragraphs of the editorial called Another Candle and you'll know what the magazine is aiming at."

I read the last two paragraphs and here they are:

"Now and then, in answer to a request, the remark is made that 'war is the will of God.' War is not the will of God. War is the will of man. It is the consummate result of man's erroneous thinking, of his greed, of his intolerance, and, worst of all, his indifference to his brother's sorrows, joys and needs. His brother is not only his kin, but his brother is his neighbor, the man at the next desk, and, in fact, every man, woman and child in the world. Every person is a part of a universal interdependency.

"The fires of hatred have been fanned over and over again since the beginning of civilization, but who will fan the flame of love that lies waiting and that so often goes wasted because it is not recognized and acknowledged? Let us harness love as we have harnessed the atom! Let love work for the good of mankind! Let it bring peace as only love can!"

That's it.

Inside the covers are articles about The World, Mexico, India, Italy, Switzerland, Canada, The Netherlands, Ireland, The United States, Hawaii, Greece, Wales, Germany, Japan, Sweden, Lebanon, Argentine Republic, Denmark and England.

Dr. Underwood, his wife, Susanna, have articles in the magazine and their daughter, Clara, 12, has a short poem titled Child's Impression of Germany. Last year Clara attended a German school in Minden, Westphalia, while her mother was teaching there on a Fulbright interchange grant.

Gene tells me that he had his best magazine sales year in 1956 and he's been taking subscriptions for several years now. And he tells me he's getting out now quite often, despite his affliction. He's quite regular in going to Sunday school at McKinley Baptist, where Charles Heine is his teacher.

Soviet Envoy Rejects Invitation To Inaugural Ball

WASHINGTON (UP)—Russian Ambassador Georgi Zarouhin may have decided to go elsewhere the night of President Eisenhower's inaugural ball for two reasons.

Some of the receipts from the ball will be donated to Hungarian relief.

He may be retaliating for the snubbing of some Eastern diplomatic receptions in Moscow by Western Big Three diplomats.

Ball Chairman Carl Shipley received a one-sentence note Friday from the Soviet Embassy saying the ambassador would be "unable to attend." The embassy gave no reason for rejecting the "honored guest" invitation.

Jury Awards Gallatin County Property Owners

A Gallatin Circuit Court jury made what was called a "very generous award" Thursday night to 14 Gallatin county property owners.

The jury was called to fix the value of land being condemned for a Central Illinois Public Service Co., powerline through the area.

Prices for the land, set by the jury, were not available, but court-house observers termed the settlement "very generous" to the landowners.

The company had filed condemnation proceedings against about 150 landowners July 28, but had come to agreements on prices with most of them before the case reached trial.

Trafton Dennis of Harrisburg, attorney for the landowners, had previously estimated the jury would award between $10,000 and $20,000 to the landowners.

Judge Charles T. Randolph had previously ruled the company has the right to condemn the land, the only question being how much the landowners should be paid for damages, right-of-way and property to be used for guy wires, poles, structures and anchors.

Though no formal action has been taken, some court observers felt the company would certainly appeal the decision to the Illinois Supreme Court, seeking a lower valuation on the condemned land.

Karnak Man Uses Fictitious Farm for Loan to Buy Car; Jailed

MARION, Ill. (UP)—A bad check and a non-existent farm landed Seth D. Griffith in jail Friday.

Sheriff Carl Miller said the Karnak, Ill., man wrote a $200 bad check to buy a car in Pulaski County.

Then, Miller said, Griffith drove the car to a Cartersville, Ill., bank and got a $200 loan, using the fictitious 100-acre farm and some non-existent livestock as security.

He used the loan to make good on the bad check. Griffith was charged with obtaining money under false pretenses.

$147 Collected For Hungarian Aid in County

Red Cross Seeks Donors for Bloodmobile Visit Feb. 11 and 12

Alfred Adams, chairman of the Saline county chapter of the American Red Cross, reported a total of $147.52 contributed to the Hungarian Relief fund at the meeting of the board of directors Wednesday.

The attractive posters displayed in the banks of Saline county were made by George Carr, manual arts instructor at the Junior high school in Harrisburg, to help remind the people of the great need for funds.

The school children in Saline county have filled 106 Junior Red Cross gift boxes. These boxes go to every part of the world where there are children in need due to disasters of any nature.

Mrs. B. E. Montgomery, blood recruitment chairman, reported that in addition to the recruitment chairmen of the churches and organizations registering donors for the bloodmobile visit in Eldorado on Monday, Feb. 11, and Harrisburg on Tuesday, Feb. 12, all registered donors would be contacted who had not given blood in the past six months. These contacts will be made by phone or card by volunteer staff aides under the direction of Mrs. Warren Tuttle and Mrs. P. L. Wettaw. Mrs. Tuttle will assist Mrs. Montgomery in recruitment in Harrisburg and Mrs. Wettaw will assist Mrs. Leonard Barton, recruitment chairman, in Eldorado.

Mrs. Montgomery also reported that the sectional meeting of the chapters in this area participating in the St. Louis Regional Blood program of the American Red Cross will be held at the Junior high school from 12 noon to 3 p. m. on Tuesday, Feb. 19.

Mr. Adams appointed Mrs. Nelle Meyers, Mrs. B. E. Montgomery, Mrs. Warren Tuttle, Mrs. W. W. Chunn and Mrs. Kenneth Capel on the Fund Drive committee to select a chairman for Saline county.

On Nov. 15 and 16 when the bloodmobile was in Saline county, the following people became members of the "Gallon Club":

R. E. Turner, John Murphy, Stanley Edmister, Everett Erkman, Cecil Camp, Philip E. Hall and Thelma Hedger of Eldorado; Herbert Peak, Gordon Williams, Helen Stricklin, Harley Shepherd, Garrett Crews and Lyle Wharton of Harrisburg. There are now 67 "Gallon Club members" and three "Two Gallon members" in Saline county. These donors have been supporting the blood program by donating blood at regular intervals ever since Saline county started participating in the Red Cross Blood program in April, 1952.

Firemen Fight Blaze in House On South Jackson

City firemen last night fought a blaze in a house owned by Lucille Braden at 420 South Jackson.

Two front rooms were occupied by John Harris, the rear three by Kathryn Reimer.

Fire Chief L. G. Martin said the fire was started by an overheated stove in the Reimer apartment. The fire did not break through but there was considerable fire damage to the Reimer rooms and water damage to the Harris rooms.

Firemen laid a line in combating the blaze, which was discovered about 10 p. m.

At 12:35 p. m. yesterday firemen made a run to the Mary Farmer home at 613 East Walnut street. Martin said paper over a flue stop caught fire. There was no other damage.

Urge President To Help End Bus Segregation

Florida Governor Orders Tallahassee Service Resumed

ATLANTA (UP)—Negro leaders behind attempts to integrate city buses in the South waited today for a reply to their appeal to President Eisenhower to end bus segregation and a "state of terror" in Dixie.

There has been no response from the White House to their appeal, which was made Friday night.

Some 60 Negro integration leaders from nine southern states wound up a two-day meeting here with a letter urging the President to come South immediately and use the "weight of his office" in the explosive bus segregation dispute.

At the same time the Negro leaders framed the letter, a new test in the dispute arose in Tallahassee, Fla., when city buses started rolling again following an 11-day "cooling off" period.

Florida Gov. Leroy Collins, who suspended Tallahassee bus service New Year's Day following racial violence, withdrew his emergency order after the city commission passed an ordinance giving bus drivers the power to assign seats to passengers.

On another segregation front, Negroes won a victory when a federal judge ruled that a Virginia law aimed at upholding school segregation is unconstitutional.

The integration leaders who met in Atlanta told President Eisenhower in a letter that "American citizens have been unjustly and brutally attacked at home," as a result of integration attempts in the South.

Referring to recent bombings of the homes of Negro leaders the letter said "the maintenance of law and order in the nation finally rests . . . directly upon the President."

The letter appealed to Mr. Eisenhower to make a major speech in a large southern city urging "southerners to abide by the Supreme Court's decisions" outlawing school and bus segregation.

The Negroes also asked that Vice President Richard Nixon make a tour of the South, similar to the one he made in Europe in behalf of Hungarian relief.

The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., who led a year-long fight to break down the color barrier on Montgomery city buses, was elected president of the group.

Hold Jobless Carpenter in Slaying Of Hillbilly Singer

PORT HURON, Mich. (UP)—A 36-year-old jealous husband was held today on a charge of murdering handsome hillbilly balladier Lonnie Barron because the singer taunted him about dates with his wife.

St. Clair County prosecutor Wilbur V. Hamm said he would issue a warrant Monday charging Roger L. Fetting, 36, Lexington Heights, a jobless carpenter and father of two, with first degree murder.

Fetting's attorney, R. Gerald Barr, left orders at the county jail that no one was to be allowed to talk to Fetting, who allegedly confessed the crime Friday during an interview with a radio newsmen.

St. Clair County Prosecutor Wilbur V. Hamm said he would issue the warrant Monday against Roger L. Fetting, 36, Lexington Heights. Hamm acted after a radio newsmen said Fetting confessed shooting the hillbilly balad singer in a jealous rage.

The body of the 24-year-old guitarist, disc jockey and dance hall operator was on its way home to Richton, Miss., today. Upwards of 30,000 fans, friends and curious on-lookers paraded through the Hartley Funeral Home at Port Huron Friday night to view the musician's body, which was dressed in a white cowboy suit trimmed in red.

U. S. Defense Commitments, Now with 45 Nations, Will Extend Further Under Eisenhower Doctrine

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States has defense commitments which to some degree involve every continent of the world.

This far-flung shield against Communist aggression would be extended even more under President Eisenhower's proposed military-economic doctrine for the Middle East.

Before the President made his latest proposal, the United States had varying defense commitments with 45 nations in the Far East, the Pacific, Southeast Asia, a corner of Africa, Western Europe and the Western Hemisphere.

The new doctrine—plus existence of American defense bases in other countries and expressions of U. S. support for still more countries under treaty arrangements—could mean American defense action of one kind or another for more than 55 nations.

The area of Burma, India, Afghanistan and on through the Middle East is today's big gap in the American-Alied defense line around the Soviet Union and its satellites.

Mr. Eisenhower's hope is that the Middle East gap— from India on west— will be entirely or partially closed by the new doctrine. He knows that not all nations will cooperate. And he has no hope of getting India or Burma into any defense pacts.

Strengthen Other Nations

Neither Mr. Eisenhower nor Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has spelled out geographic limits of the new doctrine. But they could range from Afghanistan through the Mediterranean area to Morocco.

To meet its gigantic global defense commitments, the United States has an armed strength of 2,795,500 men—about 1,000,000 in the army; 912,000 in the Air Force; 676,000 in the Navy, and 200,000 in the Marine Corps.

The spearheads of American power are about 1,600 big B47 jet bombers, about 300 B36s and about 135 newer B52s which are just joining the nation's aerial guard.

Since 1945, a key part of American strategy has been to strengthen other countries through economic, military and other forms of help. The total cost of this effort has amounted to $57,000,000,000 in grants and credits of all kinds. Military grants and credits to other nations now total $18,300,000,000.

Here are the major U. S. spheres of influence and the formal defense commitments by areas:

Western Europe

The 15-nation North Atlantic Treaty Organization stands in the forefront of anti-Communist defensive power. NATO stretches from Norway and Denmark on the north to Greece and Turkey. Not included are Sweden, Finland, Switzerland, Spain (But the U. S. has bases in Spain).

The U. S. has poured about 37 billion dollars into this region since 1945. Military help constituted about 12 billion dollars of the total. Right now, about 400,000 American servicemen are in the European-Mediterranean area. Approximately 4,000 planes, the Navy's 6th Fleet and five Army divisions constitute the main American strength. The 6th Fleet, for example, has 20,000 men, 2 carriers with about 150 planes, 3 cruisers and 20 to 24 destroyers.

The United States has weapons with atomic capabilities in this area. Moreover, the 5,000-man "atomic task force" is stationed in northern Italy with Honest John rockets and Corporal missiles. Under NATO, the 15 nations are pledged to the principle that an attack against one "shall be considered an attack against all . . ."

Far East

In this region, the United States has defense commitments under the eight-nation Southeast Asian Treaty Organization. This group includes Thailand and Pakistan in addition to Britain, France, New

her. His last words, as the chamber door closed on him, were "Thanks, Warden."

Denies Bitterness

A few minutes earlier, he told his attorney, John Gibbons of Denver, it was true he had been bitter toward his mother, who was one of those he killed for her insurance, and said he loved her and believed he would join her in eternity after his death.

He ate only the ice cream from a last meal which included a large steak, french fried potatoes, combination salad and fruit. He had the remainder given to other inmates.

He did not die easily, however. The prison physician said "he had a very tough heart." It was nine and one-half minutes from the time the cyanide gas fumes were released, at 9:57 p. m. EST, until his heart beat its last. He was pronounced dead one and one-half minutes later.

Objected to Appeal

No effort was made to save Graham after the state Supreme Court upheld his death sentence last October. Graham objected even to a Supreme Court appeal.

Before he died Graham raised more confusion over whether any of his confessions were sincere.

He signed one confession for the FBI but later repudiated it. This week the minister who married him, Rev. Lloyd Kellams of a Denver suburb, said Graham twice confessed to him.

Gibbons said when he questioned Graham Friday about the last two confessions, Graham replied he had "told different stories to several people" and "this is the way I want to go, with only me actually knowing the truth."

Sizing Up The Senate

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

In the next two years the United States Senate may possibly show
a slightly stronger liberal bent than it has in recent times. But if it does, it will hardly be because new blood has altered its basic character.

The 1956 elections brought Senate changes that amount to less than 10 per cent of its total personnel of 96. Had all nine new senators been liberals, the effect still would have been small. But some are not.

There are five new Democrats,
four of whom ousted Republican incumbents or, in the case of Colorado, a man trying to inherit a GOP seat. All four Republican newcomers won formerly Democratic seats.

Of the five Democratic winners,
two must be classed as definitely conservative: Sen. Herman Talmadge of Georgia, who replaces the elderly Walter George, and
Sen. Frank Lausche, long-time
Ohio governor.

The other three fit the liberal category: Senators Frank Church
of Idaho, John Carroll of Colorado, and Joseph Clark of Pennsylvania. But it must be considered questionable how much impact these freshmen can exert upon the strongly entrenched conservatives who hold most of the key Senate posts.

On the Republican side, Sen.
Chapman Revercomb of West Virginia, starting his second tour
of Senate duty, joins the conservative assemblage. Winners Jacob Javits of New York and John
Sherman Cooper and Thurston Morton of Kentucky belong in the Eisenhower liberal-conservative mold. But, again, their numbers
do not suggest they alone can sway the GOP Senate forces.

On its face, the new membership should be roughly a duplicate of the old. It will have the same Democratic leadership, and not too many changes in committee management.

Should the end result prove to be the adoption of a somewhat more liberal approach to national legislation, the credit will probably go to President Eisenhower.

This, if it happens, will not likely be because he is more liberal than he was in his first term.
The difference is that he is stronger, as a consequence of his more emphatic 1956 victory at the polls.

Much has been made in both 1952 and 1956 of the fact that the voters did not give Mr. Eisenhower's Republican party heavy endorsement. But it should not be overlooked that the voters have also withheld warm endorsement from the Democrats,
even while handing them control
of Congress. Democratic margins
in 1954 and 1956 were spectacularly slender.

The big fact is that the President commands far more popular confidence and respect than either party. That is the thing which may work in 1957 and 1958 to bend
Congress a bit toward the liberal
end of the spectrum.

Principal Difference

The year 1956 will set many marks in business performance, as has been well noted. Not the least among the memorable items
is the fact that generally high despite the fact that two major business props — auto production
and housing — were well below old peaks.

It used to be thought — with evident good reason — that a U. S.
economy suffering any measurable decline in those two fields
could not really prosper.

That time may have gone by.
Not that general business would not feel a heavy blow if auto and housing output went into a severe tailspin. Both industries have wide impact because of their use of a great range of materials.

But fairly substantial declines
obviously can be offset nowadays.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Dulles Cuts Congressional
Questioning By Astute Filibuster;
Congressman Hays
Compared Hungary To Near East; He Gave Secretary Of State A Rough Time.

WASHINGTON. — There was more than just a burst of temper
behind the walkout of Congressman Wayne Hays (D., Ohio) from the Dulles secret hearings before the House Foreign Affairs committee.

Actually, the committee chairman, Thomas S. Gordon of Chicago, is new at the job, isn't skilled in holding important hearings.
Gordon, a Pole elected from Chicago, has excellent intentions,
speaks English with an accent,
has seldom made a speech, sat
silently on the Foreign Affairs committee for years, and through seniority finally became chairman. Affable, but insecure, he's arbitrary in order to give the appearance of being strong.

Committee members do not get full rein to cross-examine Dulles,
despite the fact that a commitment to threaten war is at stake.
They are given five minutes each
in the morning, five minutes in the afternoon. And the secretary of state, being an astute lawyer and former senator, filibusters. He answers the question at some length, so before he has finished
one or two questions, the chairman raps: "Your time has expired."

The astute Mr. Dulles also read
a long statement which blanketed the newspapers on the first day. Thus newsmen wrote little about his cross-examination. On the second day, he requested a closed-door session, and Chairman Gordon bowed. This was when Hays of Ohio protested.

"There was nothing that couldn't have been said in open session," remarked Congress Jim Fulton of Pennsylvania, a Republican, afterward.

DULLES ON GRIDDLE

Congressman Hays, who recently visited Hungary, had asked Dulles earlier about Hungary's plea for American aid. Hays compared it to the request for aid
which might come from the Near East under the Eisenhower Doctrine. Here is the vigorous, unpublished exchange between the Ohio congressman and the secretary of state:

Hays — "What is the difference between Hungary's asking for assistance, and our anxiety to go in and help the Arabs? Is it because of the Arabs' deep religious convictions? Or is it the oil out there — or what?"

Dulles — "The facts are not as you stated them. We never received a request for assistance from Nagy. But he is not there at the present time."

Hays — "Suppose the same thing occurs in the Middle East and a few days later the man who asks for assistance isn't there any more?"

Dulles — "We would expect the request to be given in such character and form that it wouldn't depend upon a single person being there."

It draws on new metals,
new chemicals, many another
product virtually unknown a decade
or two ago.

And consumer "necessities"
have been expanded to include all kinds of household and other facilities which once were either unknown or were luxuries.

That is the principal difference
between 1936 and 1956.

Hays — "Well, this plan might not operate at all."

Dulles — (Wisecracking) — "Well,
if it wouldn't operate, perhaps there would be no objection to passing it."

Hays — "What's the use of passing something to take care of a situation that doesn't exist?"

"Dulles — 'I don't know what you are talking about. Maybe it's just as well I don't.'"

Hays — "I can fill you in some time."

KENTUCKY HUMOR

Sen. Thurston Morton, Kentucky
Republican, has a sense of humor
which sometimes gets the better
of his discretion.

Morton was talking to a friend
about his recent election in Kentucky and told about a political supporter who came down from the Kentucky mountains to see him during the campaign.

"We're prayin' more and more
for you," said the political henchman.

"I appreciate the prayin'," Morton, quoted himself as saying, "but how about doing more stealin'?"

ACTRESS CONGRESSWOMAN

Former Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas of California,
now a concert singer and actress,
came back to her old haunts last week while her husband, Melvyn Douglas, was playing the lead role of Clarence Darrow in "Inherit
The Wind," the story of the Scopes monkey-gland trial in Tennessee which ended the career of William Jennings Bryan.

Mrs. Douglas visited with old friends, did not go up to Congress
where she had once fought so hard for slum clearance, against inflation, and in the end was defeated for the Senate by Richard Nixon in a bitter campaign which first launched the technique known as McCarthyism.

Congressman Albert Thomas of Texas, meeting Mrs. Douglas at dinner, didn't recognize her.

"You look so much younger and beautiful," he said.

"She isn't black and blue any more from the low blows of Mr.
Nixon," replied host George Vour-nas.

MRS. ROOSEVELT ADVISES

Former First Lady Eleanor
Roosevelt tried to talk Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson into going on with the attack
against the Eisenhower administration the other day.

"I think you should deliver
more fighting speeches," she urged.

Johnson replied that liberal senators, such as Humphrey of Minnesota and Morse of Oregon, delivered fighting speeches every day.

64,550,000 Hold Jobs in U. S.

WASHINGTON (UP) — The
government reported today
that 64,550,000 Americans were holding jobs at the end of 1956
— a year of "unprecedented
job levels."

The total was 718,000 lower than in November, but a record for December.

Weekly earnings of factory
workers in December averaged $84.05 — $4.34 more than at the end of 1955. The Labor and Commerce departments said
every manufacturing industry
reported higher weekly earnings.

The number of persons looking for jobs at the end of the year was about the same as in December a year ago — 2,479,- 000 — and practically the same as in November.

"I have a different problem,"
he said. He explained that he had to work with conservative senators such as Byrd of Virginia,
Eastland of Mississippi, Talmadge
of Georgia, and Thurmond of South Carolina, yet also get along with liberal senators such as Humphrey, Morse, Neuberger of Oregon, and Douglas of Illinois.

Johnson pleaded that he couldn't deliver crusading, liberal speeches and still coax votes out of the right wing of his party. He told Mrs. Roosevelt his strategy had enabled him to put across liberal measures, such as the increased minimum wage, that would never have passed the Senate otherwise.
Southern senators, under pressure from the big southern textile interests to oppose minimum wage, went along with Johnson after considerable backstage persuasion.

They would never have done so,
Johnson said, if he tried to be a flaming liberal.

Emcee Sees Short Shuffle for Big Money TV Shows

By WILLIAM EWALD

United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP) — The long
green will get short shuffle on TV from here on in, according to veteran quiz emcee Clayton (Bud) Collyer.

Collyer, shepherd of "Beat the Clock" since 1950, recently took on a new CBS-TV question bee, "To Tell the Truth," which does not more than $1,000 per hour.
Despite the low-calorie lettuce,
the show seems to be healthy and clicking.

"I think the days of the money
giveaways are pretty definitely on the wane," said Collyer today.
"You know, when '$64,000 Question' started, I gave it a year and a half of good ratings."

"I think I've proved a pretty good prophet. It's pretty clear 'Question' and the shows that have imitated it don't have the impact they once had — despite the fact the big money is still there."

"What counts over the long haul is the game itself — the format of the show and how much basic appeal it holds for an audience. I think we've got that kind of a game with 'To Tell the Truth' — the audience doesn't know the answers, but they don't need specialized knowledge to solve the problem."

"To Tell the Truth" revolves around three unidentified guests
who confront the show's panel of four — Polly Bergen, Hildy Parks,
Dick Van Dyke and John Cameron Swayze. All three guests claim to be the same person. It's up to the panel to find out the two false claimants.

Senate Group to Probe Newspaper Price Increases

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) said today his Senate Commerce Committee will soon investigate recently announced increases in the price of newspaper.

Magnuson said his committee staff has been working on an investigation of newspaper prices since mid-November.

He said he will confer in New York Monday with Cranston Williams, general manager of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, about the effect on the newspaper business of the $4 a ton price hike recently announced by three major Canadian newspaper producers. Other mills are expected to follow suit.

"It's the little papers that really get hurt by this increase," Magnuson told a reporter. "They can't absorb it."

The chairman gave no date of the public hearings on the price hike but informed sources said they may start in mid-February.

Magnuson announced the hearings after a Republican member of his committee, Sen. Charles E. Potter (Mich.), publicly urged an immediate investigation of the price increase and the "skyrocketing profits" of Canadian newspaper firms.

Potter said Canadian mills produce 80 per cent of the newspaper used by American publishers. He said the St. Lawrence Corp., one of the firms which announced the increase from $130 to $134 a ton, showed profits 58.7 per cent greater in 1955 than 1954.

Mrs. Pearl Norman Writes Prayer For New Year

A Prayer for New Years, contained in the Jan. 7 issue of The Washington Post and Times Herald, was written by Mrs. Pearl W. Norman, D. C., mother of Mrs. Dick Parker of this city.

Here is Mrs. Norman's prayer for 1957: "Almighty God, give us all the spiritual strength to accept the seasons of the soul, laughter and tears, success and failure, companionship and loneliness, as we accept the changing seasons of the year."

"May our country always find its true greatness in service to Thee. We are justly proud that 'Lady Liberty' is fulfilling her mission in welcoming the homeless Hungarians seeking refuge from slavery in their own land, and may her torch continue to shine brightly until the oppressed peoples of the world are liberated, and free to work for Thee, and also permitted to enjoy the fruits of their own labors."

"We know that the bravery exemplified by the Hungarians in their heroic fight for freedom from Moscow, springs from their faith in You, and Your promises of a life everlasting. That alone keeps us all strong in the belief that we are winning our crusade against the godless ideology of communism."

She is the granddaughter of Mrs. H. B. Gary of 612 South Ledford.

U. S. Commitments Cover 45 Nations

Zealand, Australia and The Philippines. Separate defense pacts have been signed by the United States since 1951 with Australia, New Zealand, The Philippines, Formosa, Japan and the Republic of Korea.

Defense commitments in this area begin with Japan and Korea, swing around Red China's Pacific Coast and on up to Burma and India. Approximately 7½ billion dollars in American aid has been poured into this area during the last 10 years. Almost all of the money was in the form of grants.

Latest figures show that the United States has about 500,000 men in the entire Far East-Pacific area. This total includes two U. S. Army divisions in Korea, one division in Japan, and one Marine division in the Japan-Okinawa area. One division and an 8,000-man Marine force are in Hawaii. The equivalent of another division is stationed in Alaska. The United States has 2,800 planes and about 500 ships in the Far East-Pacific area. About 2,000 of the planes are in Korea, Japan, Okinawa and other nearby Far Eastern locations. The U. S. 7th Fleet of 40,000 men, 4 carriers, 350 planes, 3 cruisers and 40 destroyers is the main naval force in the area.

Western Hemisphere

The United States is joined with 20 other American Republics in the 1947 Rio de Janeiro Treaty. This states that an armed attack against any American state "shall be considered as an attack against all the American states..." Geographically this treaty extends from the North Pole to the South Pole. Canada is not a member, however, but it is joined with the United States in the NATO pact.

During the last 10 years, the United States has handed out 1 billion dollars in grants and credits to Latin American republics. Military aid amounted to only 280 million dollars of the total. If an attack occurred in Latin America, the United States would have to draw on its forces stationed in the United States or its territories. The United States has nine Army divisions, two Marine divisions and other forces stationed in the continental "mobile reserve." Planes and ships could be sent south on short notice.

Baghdad Pact

The United States is not a member of the Baghdad Pact which includes Britain, Iran, Iraq, Turkey and Pakistan. But it has declared that aggression against the Baghdad Pact countries would "be viewed by the United States with the utmost gravity."

In this area, the United States has provided about one billion dollars in help of all kinds during the last decade. Economic and military aid are increasing. American armed forces could be transferred swiftly to the area in event of attack.

Official Takes Leave During Contract Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Assistant Defense Secretary Robert Tripp Ross stepped out of the government today on a "leave of absence" until Congress completes investigating defense contracts held by his wife's firm.

The 53-year-old former New York congressman announced he was taking the leave Friday night after conferring with Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

Asked whether Ross' action was voluntary, Wilson said through a spokesman: "We discussed the matter and Mr. Ross' letter was written subsequently."

The Defense Department disclosed last week the Army awarded Wynn Enterprises, Inc., of New York, a $834,150 contract last November for 249,000 pairs of men's trousers. Ross' wife, Mrs. Clare Wynn Ross, is president of the company.

The department later revealed that Mrs. Ross and her brother, H. D. Wynn of Knoxville, Tenn., have an interest in firms with $5.3 million in military orders.

Ross announced he was taking a leave beginning today in a letter to Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) of the Senate Permanent Investigating Subcommittee.

McClellan has ordered a preliminary investigation into the Wynn Enterprises contract to see if any violation of the conflict of interests law were involved.

The law prohibits federal officials from being connected with firms doing business with the government.

RECEIVES GOOD CONDUCT MEDAL

Army Specialist 3/c Donald G. Bradshaw, Raleigh, recently was awarded the Good Conduct medal in Germany while serving with the 40th Antiaircraft Artillery Battalion.

Specialist Bradshaw, a driver in the battalion's Headquarters Battery, received the decoration for his exemplary behavior, efficiency and fidelity.

He entered the Army in January 1955 and completed basic training at Fort Chaffee, Ark., before arriving overseas the following June.

The 1953 Eldorado Township high school graduate is a former junior tool designer for the McDonnell Aircraft Corp. in St. Louis, Mo.

Canadian Pacific Strike Ends

OTTAWA (AP) — A nine-day strike by railroad firemen against the Canadian Pacific Railway ended Friday night. Work began immediately to clear 17,000 miles of track for resumption of service.

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent announced the end of the strike to the House of Commons shortly before 5 p. m. EST.

The first train to run since the strike began Jan. 2 arrived at Windsor, Ont., shortly before midnight. Full passenger service was expected to be restored to most points by Monday.

The railroad and the striking Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen agreed to resume operations pending the outcome of a government inquiry by a three-man board of judges.

The three-man commission will determine whether firemen are essential to safety on diesel locomotives in freight and yard service and report back by Oct. 1, St. Laurent said.

SIDE GLANCES

By Galbraith

"Oh, yes, girls were supposed to be smart in my day—
but we had to be dumb, too, to have any fun!"

AROUND SPRINGFIELD

By DON E. CHAMBERLAIN

Civil Service Administration is Fascinating for Miss Maude Myers

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special)— Years of experience as one of the state's key persons in administration of civil service laws has not dimmed the fascination of her work, according to Miss Maude Myers, Springfield, president of the Illinois State Civil Service Commission, and first of a growing list of women who have brought the feminine touch to major offices
in state government.

Miss Myers, whose term as president of the commission does not expire until March, 1961, has been associated with civil service since October, 1927, when she went to work as a stenographer resulting from her being on an eligible list.
She has since served successfully
as payroll clerk, supervisor, executive officer and as president, the first to be named to the office.

Miss Myers who was born in Virden, was named commission president by former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson after being executive officer, attained as the result of a competitive examination. When the Stevenson appointment expired in June, 1955, she was reappointed
by Gov. William G. Stratton to a six-year term. Her biography in "Who's Who" shows a long list
of civil service activities.

Work a Challenge
"It's fascinating work," said
Miss Myers. "It's always a chal-
enge. It's never the same thing.
You have to do with so many people, legislators, the public, the press and government officers. It has been interesting to see the growth, the advance of civil service. Where it used to be we handled 12,000 persons, it is now more than 30,000."

Miss Myers says her work is "challenging" because of the efforts to keep Illinois in step with other states in civil service advancement. She said the progress of civil service in California and New York states, both of which have international reputations, are a constant challenge to "us in Illinois" in efforts to surpass them.

Her list of activities include work with the Civil Service Assembly of the United States and Canada
where she is current chairman of the Central Regional Conference;
with the Illinois State Employees Association; and the National Office Management Association. She was selected this year as the most outstanding Career Woman in Springfield by the Springfield Business and Professional Woman's Clubs.

Miss Myers shares a woman
"first" in state government with State Sen. Mrs. Lottie Holman O'- Neill, Downers Grove, who was the first woman to be elected to the State General Assembly. Mrs. O'- Neill was elected a state representative in 1922. In 1950 she ran for the Senate, won and was re-elected to a second 4-year term
in 1954.

Other Women Firsts
Other Illinois women firsts in government include: Miss Marion
P. Keever, Coal City, executive secretary to Governor Stratton,
first woman to ever serve as executive secretary to an Illinois Governor; Miss Vera Binks, Kewanee,
director of the State Department of Registration and Education, the first woman to be named a member of an Illinois Governor's cabinet.

Mrs. Bernice T. Van Der Vries, Winnetka, $15,000-a-year member of the Chicago Transit Authority;
and Mrs. Earle Benjamin Seary,
Springfield, clerk of the Illinois
State Supreme Court and first woman ever elected to state office
although Mrs. Emily Taft Douglas, Chicago, was elected a congresswoman-at-large, while still other women were elected to the University of Illinois Board of Trustees.

State Treasurer Warren Wright,
Park Ridge, is considering running for state treasurer in 1958, the first time election of a treasurer will

Self-Help First Urged by Internal Revenue Service

"Self-help" will again be stressed during the 1957 filing period as a dominant feature of the Internal Revenue Service's taxpayer assistance program, District Director H. J. White of the Springfield District announced today.

"This means," Mr. White said, "that taxpayers are asked to complete as much of their return as possible before seeking help from us. A majority of taxpayers can complete a full return without any assistance other than that provided by the form and instructions. Since the 1956 forms are almost identical with last year's, we believe that the percentage of those needing aid can be reduced materially."

"Our request that taxpayers, even those with minor problems, first try to complete their own return, does not mean that we are not going to provide assistance," Mr. White said. "Both telephone and office assistance will be available to taxpayers with questions and problems."

"If help is needed, we request certain necessary preliminaries from the taxpayer. We ask him to have in mind all the facts that apply in his problem, and to have all his 1956 financial records in hand which bear on a questioned phase of his return. Such records should be properly grouped and in order, for both the taxpayer's benefit and ours."

"Past experience has shown that taxpayer assistance days that we have advertised at the 53 locations in this District are the best days to seek assistance, since more personnel is especially assigned to these locations on those days," Mr. White said.

Taxpayers wanting help were urged by Mr. White to seek it before the rush of the final weeks of the filing season. He warned that it is not planned to keep the various offices open after hours or on Saturdays, except where advertised as taxpayer assistance days.

Expression's Origin

The early American settler's firearm consisted of three parts: the lock, stock and barrel. Hence, when we speak of a thing in its entirety, we say "lock, stock and barrel."

Old Industry

The smelting of ores antedates written history. Lead probably was the first metal ever to be smelted because it is very easy to reduce.

THEY'RE GOING TO STICK A NEEDLE W ME

Yes, Sonny, we do it all the time! Mommie holds you in her lap. And that nice, friendly doctor gets the needle ready. Then . . . OUCH! And there's one less disease for you to worry about.

If only it were that easy to protect you from some of the other diseases that infest the world . . . the plagues that eat away man's moral and spiritual fibre.

But religion can't be injected with a needle!

So it requires wise parents, and Christian homes, and worshipping families, and vigorous churches to get you ready for a noble, happy life.

Better take it up Sunday with your folks: ISN'T IT TIME FOR ALL OF US TO GO TO CHURCH?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'Jesus Baptized And Tempted'

Matthew 3:16, 4:11

GOLDEN TEXT: "Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and Him only shalt thou serve." (Matt. 4:10)

INTRODUCTION: The first two Sundays of this new year we studied about the birth of Jesus and about the wise men coming to worship Him. Thirty years have passed now, and he is ready to begin His public ministry.

Every Bible student wishes he knew more about the childhood and youth period in the life of Jesus. We have only one glimpse into his childhood; and that was when he was in the temple at the age of twelve.

Nazareth is a beautiful town on the side of a high hill. (We were there last summer.) It was here that Jesus lived and worked in Joseph's carpenter shop. It was here that he "grew in stature and wisdom."

1. JESUS WAS BAPTIZED (3:16-17)

Jesus presented himself as a candidate for baptism. (v. 13-16). He did not do this because of any sin in his own life. He had no sin. However, he had to take the sinner's place on Calvary later. So, in the very beginning of his public ministry, he took the sinner's place in baptism.

Of course, we know that baptism today does not wash away sin. It is an outward symbol of what has already taken place on the inside of the sinner.

So pleased was God with Jesus' beginning that the dove, symbol of the Holy Spirit, came and lighted on His shoulder. God spoke from heaven and said: "This is my beloved Son in whom I am well pleased."

The Jordan River, where Jesus was baptized by John the Baptist, is beautiful to behold. It flows 65 miles down from the beautiful Sea of Galilee into the Dead Sea. Its waters are deep, clear, and cool. What a beautiful setting it was for the baptism of Jesus, our Lord.

"And Jesus, when he was baptized, went up straightway out of the water." V. 16.

II. JESUS WAS TEMPTED (4:1-11)

Immediately after his baptism, Jesus was tempted. How very true of Christians today! Jesus did not seek the temptation, but he was ready to do battle with Satan. The difference in us is that too often we seek temptation and do not battle with Satan.

1. HE WAS TEMPTED PHYSICALLY: For forty days Jesus had fasted. He was hungry. Satan came and challenged Jesus to turn the stones to bread and thus satisfy his hunger. Jesus had the power to do this very thing, but to do so would have been to disobey God. Notice that Jesus said: "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God."

Physical temptations confront every person today. To follow God's will is the only road to real happiness. To refuse to obey God is to travel the road that leads to sorrow and destruction.

2. HE WAS TEMPTED SPIRITUALLY: The old devil tried to get Jesus to cast himself down from a high pinnacle of the temple. The devil said, "God will give his angels charge concerning thee." Again, this could have been done, and the people would have flocked to Jesus in admiration. But, this was not God's will.

We know of some folks who have done some mighty foolish things thinking God would protect them. Jesus said: "It is written again, thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God."

3. HE WAS TEMPTED VOCATIONALLY: The devil took Jesus up into a high mountain and "showed him all the kingdoms of the world, and the glory of them." He told Jesus that if he would bow down and worship him (the devil) that he could have all these kingdoms.

Many a person has sold his soul to the devil for a little bit of this world's goods. Jesus refused to worship Satan even for all the world.

We see here that the devil was tempting Jesus to bypass the Cross and all the life of hardships leading to it. Jesus came to take the world away from the devil. He will do it in the end, and every follower of Jesus will then win the victory and reward for obedience and faithfulness.

CONCLUSION: Jesus was baptized, not for the remission of sin; but to show the sinner that he was taking his place. Every person should confess his sins to God, repent (turn away from) of his sins, and accept Jesus Christ as personal Savior by faith. Then, he should follow the Lord in beautiful baptism.

When temptations come to us today, we should do battle with the devil. We should seek the way out of that temptation which Jesus has promised. We, too, can conquer sin and temptation with his help.

Seedlings Still Available for Tree Plantings

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Almost one-third of the stock of seedlings available from the two state nurseries for planting next spring have been ordered, it was announced today by Director Glen D. Palmer of the Illinois Department of Conservation.

Orders received by the Division of Forestry to date total 2,999,000 seedlings and transplants, according to the monthly report prepared by E. E. Nuuttila, state forester. There still are 6,770,000 seedlings available at the Mason Nursery, Topeka, and the Union Nursery at Jonesboro.

Orders will be accepted through farm foresters, farm advisers, cooperative agencies and the forestry office in Springfield until April 15, Nuuttila said.

According to the report, Illinois landowners have ordered 760,000 multiflora rose seedlings, topping the list of species on order. There still are more than one million multiflora plants available, but the state forester declared they are going fast.

Next most sought species is the Scotch pine which is used in Illinois primarily for Christmas tree farming. A total of 570,000 have been ordered, with only 330,000 still available. In addition, landowners have cleared out the total stock of 290,000 Scotch pine transplants at the Mason nursery.

Landowners have ordered 430,000 red pine, but there are nearly two million more seedlings in stock, as well as 1,200,000 white pine. All of these are expected to be exhausted well before April as farmers get into the conservation reserve feature of the soil bank program.

Limited-Fed Gilts Get Stronger Litters

URBANA—Gilts on a limited ration produce bigger, stronger litters than those on a full feed of a ration containing lots of corn.

G. R. Carlisle, extension livestock specialist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, says that one way to limit the ration for gilts is to hand-feed the amount of grain and supplement you want to give them.

The other way to limit feed is to self-feed a very bulky ration, Carlisle says.

For instance, you can hand-feed 5 or 6 pounds of corn or oats plus 1½ pounds of drylot supplement for each gilt or sow daily.

Or you can self-feed a mixture of 300 pounds each of ground corn, ground oats and alfalfa meal or hay, 40 pounds each of meat scraps and soybean oil meal and 20 pounds of mineral.

If you have corn silage to feed, you can give the gilts or sows 12 pounds of corn silage and 1½ pounds of drylot supplement each daily.

The 1957 spring pig crop seems a long way off, Carlisle says. But the way you feed your sows and gilts from now until farrowing can make a big difference in the health and vigor of the pig crop that they farrow.

Speakers from the University of Illinois College of Agriculture will include J. W. Pendleton, Earl Spurrier, and P. E. (Pat) Johnson.

Topics on the program will include how to establish a legume seedling successfully, recommended crop varieties for 1957, special reports on grain sorghums, wide row corn and establishing legume seedlings in corn, dwarf hybrids, latest in fertilizer and soil treatments, minimum tillage research, and what's coming in crops and soils.

Small Streams For Irrigation

Illinois now has more than 300 irrigators, and many more farmers are considering the possibility of irrigating to beat the drought. This is a good time of year to do some planning, because a dam or artificial reservoir may be needed. Smaller streams often have an intermittent flow of water, and some type of impounding device is needed to make water available during the months of greatest demand.

Since landowners along a stream have the right to use all the water they need for household purposes and for watering livestock, a farmer must take into account all of these uses before deciding to irrigate. Also, the Illinois courts have said that all of the landowners next to a stream have an equal right to use the water for artificial purposes, such as for irrigation and manufacturing. And the fact that one farmer starts using stream water for irrigation before anyone else does not give him any special right to the water if the others want to irrigate later.

Because of these legal rules, the following suggestions are offered to those farmers who may be thinking about spending money on a dam or reservoir:

1. Find out what uses are being made of water down stream, and determine whether the water supply is adequate.
2. Calculate your own needs for irrigation, and estimate the reduction in supply to lower owners. It may be necessary to consult an engineer to decide this point.
3. If downstream water use would be substantially reduced by your withdrawal of water, contact the lower owners or meet with all of them at one time and discuss the problem. Reach an agreement on usage if possible.
4. Ask for permission to stop the flow temporarily while the reservoir is filling.
5. If the water will be backed up on an upper owner, get his consent.
6. Contact the State Division of Waterways to find out whether a permit is needed to construct a water-holding device in that stream.

Southern Illinois Agronomy Day at Marion Jan. 15

"What's New in Crops and Soils" will be the theme of the Southern Illinois Agronomy Day to be held on January 15 at the Logan school gymnasium in Marion. H. H. Fulkerson, host farm adviser, today invited all southern Illinois farmers to attend the meeting starting at 10 a. m. Lunch will be served at noon. The afternoon session will run from 1:00 to 3:00.

Speakers from the University of Illinois College of Agriculture will include J. W. Pendleton, Earl Spurrier, and P. E. (Pat) Johnson.

Topics on the program will include how to establish a legume seedling successfully, recommended crop varieties for 1957, special reports on grain sorghums, wide row corn and establishing legume seedlings in corn, dwarf hybrids, latest in fertilizer and soil treatments, minimum tillage research, and what's coming in crops and soils.

Another part of the program will be devoted to weed control. Special coverage will be given to controlling Johnson grass, wild millet, and wild garlic. Other topics will be hazards of weed chemicals, proper sprayer adjustments, use of banding nozzles, suggested rates for best control at lowest cost, the new chemicals randox, dalapon, and amino triazole; brush control, crop desiccants, and what to expect in the next few years.

This will be the first time such a complete all day meeting devoted to the latest in crops and soils has been held in southern Illinois. Special exhibits and illustrated talks should make this a very interesting program.

Agronomy Day is sponsored by the department of agronomy at the University of Illinois and the county agricultural extension services in southern Illinois.

Hog production is big business in Illinois, one of the leading sources of farm income in the state, according to Dr. Walter J. Willis, marketing specialist in the Southern Illinois University School of Agriculture. He says that present indications point to a rather favorable year ahead for the farmers who are producing hogs.

Farmers in the hog raising business are interested in the intentions of producers throughout the nation as reflected in estimates issued by the national Crop Reporting Board in June and December on the number of sows that will farrow during the following six months.

Current estimates are that two percent fewer sows will farrow in the spring of 1957 than during the same period last year. Most of this decline will be in the late farrowings of March through May because the number of early litters—December to February—is expected to be about the same as last year.

Willis says this ought to mean that the summer high in prices for hogs again will come in late June or July. The decline from this peak may not be as much during 1957 as it was in 1956, and the summer hog prices likely will be the highest since 1954.

Such assumptions are based on past experience and the declared intentions of the hog producing farmers. Low prices in late 1955 and early 1956 accounted for the fact that the nation's farmers cut hog production by six percent during 1956. The depressed effect of a heavy run of hogs on the markets, as occurred last winter, is not likely to be repeated because reports indicate there are now on the farms about 15 percent fewer hogs of six months old or over.

For Illinois the production picture does not match up exactly with the national outlook. Here indications are that no change in 1957 farrowing is contemplated for 1957 although more sows will be farrowing early than last year. The number of fall pigs was up two percent over the previous year.

Illinois hog producers had 680,000 sows farrowing last fall. Total production in the state for 1956 was more than 11,000,000 hogs, indicating the size of this farm enterprise in Illinois. Only Iowa ranks ahead of Illinois in swine production.

Of course, other economic factors than the number of hogs produced for market may affect the price farmers receive for swine.

The volume and price of other kinds of meat, as well as the selling job that is done for competing lines of meat, will have an effect on the amount of pork consumed.

Because farmers can produce two litters of pigs annually, the

Bull Dogs Win Loop Tilt From Benton, 77-74

The Daily Register, Harrisburg, Illinois
Page Eight Saturday, January 12, 1957

West Favored In Pro-Bowl Tilt

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The nation's best professional football players will write an end to the extended football season Sunday in the seventh annual Pro-Bowl game at Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

Advance ticket sales indicate that upwards of 50,000 fans will be on hand to witness the contest pitting the best from the Western Division against the top players in the Eastern Conference.

The West enters the game a slight 2-1-2 point favorite. This could be somewhat of a jinx. In the past each time the West was favored, the East won. This was the case last year when the East won a thriller, 31-30, to tie the series at three games each.

This will be the incentive for the Western players. They want to avenge that defeat. In addition, they wanted revenge for the humiliating 47-7 defeat handed the Western Division champions, the Chicago Bears, by the New York Giants title game two weeks ago.

Both coaches, Jim Lee Howell of the East and Paddy Driscoll of the West, report their teams are in excellent physical condition. It will be a rematch for these two coaches who opposed each other in the NFL championship game, Driscoll at the helm of the Bears and Howell leading the Giants.

Carter Wins Lopsided Decision Over Bob Baker

NEW YORK (AP)—Speedy young Harold Carter, spurred by the most impressive victory of his career, declared today, "bring on Hurricane Jackson next!"

Carter, the socking Sunday school teacher from Linden, N. J., handed a lopsided beating Friday night to big Bob Baker of Pittsburgh—the same Baker who last year lost two questionable split decisions to top heavyweight contender Jackson.

Using in-and-out tactics, nimble Harold was so superior to 30-year-old Baker in their TV-radio 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden that the three ring officials gave him the decision on a rounds basis, 8-1-1, 8-2, and 8-1-1. The United Press agreed, 8-2.

Many of the ringsters concluded that big Bob is definitely "washed up." Ironically, however, Manager Dusty Bettor said, "Bob was just off form and dull because of idleness. He had only three bouts last year. I'm going to string along with him, and try to have him fight every six weeks."

That was a verbal about-face.

Select Referees for Church League Games

Referees for the Church League basketball games have recently been announced by HTHS coach John Dotson. The referees were picked from HTHS varsity and freshman-sophomore teams. The referees are Wayne Stone, senior; Bill Henshaw, senior; Ray Hassett, junior; and John Stone, freshman. The league is an annual affair sponsored by the churches of Harrisburg. The Rev. Glen Daugherty, pastor of the First Christian church, is in charge of the program this year. The first games are scheduled for Monday, Jan. 14.

Locals Spurt to Victory In Final Seconds; Play At Mt. Vernon Tonight

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs, nine points behind with three minutes to go, rallied to beat Benton, 77 to 74 in a South Seven conference basketball game in Davenport gym last night.

It was the first loop win for the locals and the victory gives Harrisburg an identical 1-4 mark along with Benton in the standings. Previously Harrisburg was alone on the low rung of the ladder. Tonight the Bull Dogs are at Mt. Vernon.

The locals started well and finished well and in between it looked as though Benton might keep the Bull Dogs winless in the conference. But with Harrisburg down 74-65 with exactly three minutes left in the contest, the Bull Dogs put on a rally that chalked up 12 points while the Rangers were being held scoreless.

Come From Behind

At the three minute point the count was 74-65 when Ray Hassett was fouled. He made one free shot. Bill Henshaw also made his first free shot a minute later, but Harrisburg got the rebound and Henshaw scored from the field to narrow the gap to 74-69.

With 1:05 left Henshaw again was fouled and this time he made both shots to bring the score to 74-71.

Benton took the ball down the floor and Smith, in trying to drive into the basket, charged into Hassett and the junior from Muddy made both free throws to put the Bull Dogs but one point behind at 74-73 with 50 seconds remaining.

With Benton trying to hold on to the ball Henshaw fouled Pete Ross of Benton in an effort to gain possession but Ross missed the first try and Harrisburg got the rebound. Hassett connected with 20 seconds left to put Harrisburg ahead at 75-74 for the first time since they were ahead 26-24 in the second period. Ray was fouled by Ross on the shot but missed.

Tied at Half
However, with 11 seconds left, Jim Cummins put the game on ice with two free shots.

Smith of Benton was fouled with one-half second left but he missed both shots.

The game was very close the first half as both teams made 18 points in both quarters for a 36-36 tie at halftime. The Bull Dogs rolled up an early lead but Benton closed the gap and the teams stayed close together the rest of the half.

Benton pulled out to a six-point lead the third quarter and was leading 58-52 as the fourth quarter commenced. The Rangers held onto their lead and stretched it to 10 points once midway in the fourth quarter before Harrisburg caught fire to win.

Hassett and Henshaw were the stars in the Bull Dogs' late spurt to victory although they got some fine help from the Cummins twins who did a good job in keeping Benton from stalling out the game. Ben Fulkerson, who kept the locals in the game in the early stages, had fouled out when the rally came and John Zeigler was out nearly all of the last half with four fouls.

Locals Win Preliminary

Wayne Stone, who had an off-night on offense, contributed to the Bull Dog victory with some fine rebounding during the closing minutes.

Benton had some nice players in Ross, Walker and West.

In the preliminary Harrisburg won, 49-47. The Bull Dogs trailed 16-9 at the quarter and 18-15 at the half but went ahead 35-20 in the third quarter. Freshman John Stone had 22 points, Ron Maynard 11, Don Pickford 10, Bob Pavlenis 6. Phil Kane and Wasson also played.

At halftime there was a short contest between Logan and Muddy third graders. Logan won, 4 to 0.
